Greetings, Pamela Cressey:

It is impossible for me to complete my turn on the AAC. I am truly grateful to you and the AAC for allowing me the opportunity to serve on the Alexandria Archeology Commission. I wish I could have contributed more, however the privilege of watching seasoned masters at work (such as yourself and AAC members) well worth my time. I will cherish the experience forever.

Thank You – Wendell George Brown

Re: Letter of Resignation – NVJDH

Dear Sir:

It is with deep regret that I must submit my resignation as a Commissioner of the Northern Virginia Detention Home, effective February 1st, 2004.

The reason for my resignation is that my wife and I have purchased a home in Fredericksburg, Virginia, and we will leave Alexandria on or about February 1st, 2004.

I have greatly enjoyed my tenure as a Commission member and as Chairman for the past few months. I have served in this capacity for the past seven years, in which I hope that my experience and expertise has assisted the Detention Home in becoming one of the prime detention facility in the Commonwealth of Virginia.

I will always cherish the working relationship and good works of the executive directors and staff members, along with the other commission members.

My best wishes for continued success.

Very truly yours,

Dear Fellow Commissioners:

I have enjoyed being a part of HARC and hope to see the fruits of your labor around the City in the future.

Hi Susan. My husband and I are relocating in the next few months. Unfortunately, with all the moving plans and preparations, I won't be able to continue serving on the committee. I regret that I did not have a chance to become fully involved, but we're moving on to new opportunities and greener pastures (well, Colorado isn't exactly green, but you know what I mean). Please let me know if I need to write an official resignation letter, or if this email will suffice. Wishing you and the committee members the best, Serena Leland
